EU Business Seminar: Latest European Business Law Development and UN Convention on International Sale of Goods (CISG)

The EU Institute in Japan-Tokyo Consortium and the Japan Institute for Overseas Investment announce that they co-organise a business seminar entitled: EU Business Seminar: Latest European Business Law Development and UN Convention on International Sale of Goods (CISG) . For further details, please see the programme below.

In the first part, focusing on European business-related laws such as competition laws and M&A laws in the enlarged EU, the latest development in European business will be explained by an EU law expert of the competition law team of Ashurst London who won Legal Business Award in Britain in 2007. EU business is increasingly complex because of EU enlargement

In the second part, an overview of the CISG and its impact on business will be considered. Japan is preparing to join the CISG next year. It already has many judicial precedents mainly in Europe and has established a global standard of international sale of goods.

We hope this would be an excellent opportunity which provides the attendants with valuable advice to help to develop business in Europe and worldwide smoothly.

Please register by faxing a completed application form by Tuesday, 25th September 2007.
